

Alabama Fire College Update

Due to the Alabama Fire College being used as a staging and logistical base for on going operations associated with the recent storms to hit the State; we will be relocating classes for the week of May 9 -13, 2011 to the Prattville Fire Department in Prattville, AL.

We sincerely regret any inconvenience to those who planned to attend campus courses for that week. If you would like a refund due to relocation of class, send your written request to registration@alabamafirecollege.org If you have already made hotel arrangements in the Tuscaloosa area you will need to contact that facility to cancel your reservation.
